Vinyl Take-Back Scheme

Overview

Flooring manufacturers Altro and Polyflor are founding and funding members of the vinyl flooring take-back scheme Recofloor. Waste vinyl flooring collected under the scheme is diverted from landfill and recycled.

The scheme accepts uplifted vinyl flooring and post-installation off-cuts. Vinyl flooring material is collected in bags and either picked up by Recofloor or dropped off at any participating flooring distributor or Recofloor drop-off site, located across the UK.

The recycled flooring is either used to manufacture new flooring or used to make traffic management products such as traffic cones and road sign bases.

The scheme is managed by Axion Consulting Ltd, experts in resource recovery.

How it works

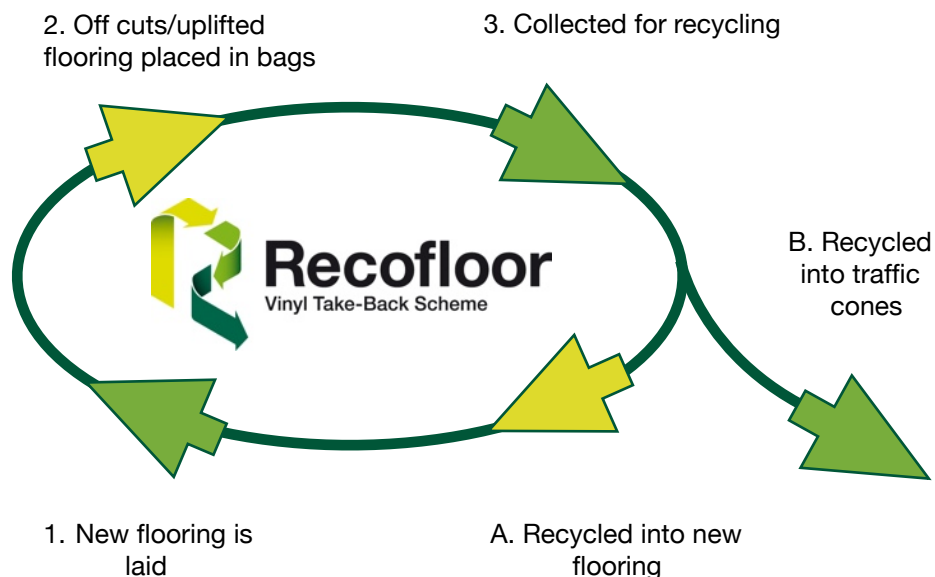

- Telephone to register your interest with Recofloor
- Recofloor will despatch bulk bags to you
- You fill the bulk bags with vinyl waste (approx 250kg per bag) and place on a pallet
- When your bags are full, telephone Recofloor to book a collection. Charges apply for individual collections from contractors' or construction sites. Please call Recofloor for current charges
- Credit card payment is taken over the 'phone to pay for collection
- Replacement bags are despatched on request
- Alternatively, you can drop-off vinyl flooring waste at any one of our sites across the UK. Local charges will apply. For details, telephone: +44 161 355 7618 and ask for Recofloor. Email: recofloor@axionconsulting.co.uk
